What have the Italians given us? Through the centuries, to name a few: spas, roads, coinage, pizza, the Renaissance, tiramisu, Armani, Sophia Loren, Ferraris and an inexhaustible source of inspiration for sophistication and design. Now from the same style cornucopia comes new, vibrant and unique ranges of greeting cards with the graphic design produced by a gaggle of artists who have flair codified in their DNA.

Coolgraphic's first offerings to the UK market are four ranges of greeting cards: Dolce Vita Collection with its playful restyle of the graphics inspired by Italy in the sixties, the heydays of Fellini and Cinquecento cars; That's Amore Collection, a series of unmissable photographic variations on the theme of love, the heart and its many, often unexpected, meanings. The Fruit Collection, a range of fresh and fruitful cards to grant birthday wishes with a touch of humour; and the Christmas Collection, a new eye-catching range includes fairy silhouette images, snow flakes and stars with an innovative style to make your Christmas more colourful and vibrant. Why look for the right words, when for a few pennies you can speak Italian?
